60,000 perform Yoga at Mysore Race Course

Mysuru, June 21 (MTY&BCT)- "Had the District Administration aimed for the Guinness World Records for the 'Largest Yoga Performance' at a Single Venue, we would have beaten our own record of last year as this year, we had more than 60,000 yoga performers at the sprawling Mysore Race Course (MRC) when compared to the last year's number of 55,506 participants."

These were the words of many yoga performers who had gathered at the Race Course at the foot of Chamundi Hill to perform mass yoga this morning on the occasion of Fourth International Day of Yoga.

All roads led to MRC as over 60,000 enthusiasts gathered at the venue and performed all the 16 yoga asanas as per the protocol released by the Centre.

Mysuru had entered the Guinness Book of World Records for the 'Largest Yoga Demonstration or Lesson at a Single Venue' and also for the 'Largest Yoga Performance' at a Single Venue' during last year's yoga day at the same venue under the leadership of former Dy Commissioner D. Randeep, who was among the participants today.

Safety of senior citizens

The oldies in society are honourably identified as senior citizens. That honour, gracefully accepted as a time-honoured tradition in the land, seems to have faded in our times leading to the event of World Elder Abuse Awareness Day (WEAAD) observed every year on June 15. The International Network for Prevention of Elder Abuse designated this day in 2006 recognising the growing incidences of elder abuse all over the world. The ancient quote prescribing to consider mother (Matĥru), father (Pitĥru) and teacher (Guru) as God may have witnessed a time-warp nowadays, but all come under the identity of elders, per se. That ancient saying also includes one's guests (Athithi) at home to be considered as God. The practice of younger members of the family bowing before their elders and touching the feet in reverence, without any ostentative gestures or spoken words, even as the elders verbally bless the younger members, mercifully, has not yet vanished in society yet. Not complying with that totally Indian cultural practice is often noticed by the elders without any show of displeasure or disappointment. So far, so good, as long as the elders are not made victims of either verbal or physical abuse by the younger members of their families.

In retrospect, the societal scenario in the land portrayed parents taking care to ensure proper grooming of their children, often ending up with providing financial security to themselves in their sunset years, presuming that their children would take care of them without any trace of hardship. That taken-for-granted presumption stands falsified (barring exceptions) on an alarming scale in modern times.

The incidents of the elderly members in the family finding themselves worldwide at the receiving end of torment inflicted by their own sons and daughters, although only a fraction of the number of such incidents see the light of day, have reportedly aroused non-government agencies and voluntary groups of professionals to address this socially sensitive issue. Some governments too have shown concern towards the plight of the elders bugged by abuse in different ways, particularly when they are in dire need of care, by passing laws that are to be implemented by the judiciary and law-keeping machineries. Apart from these loosely implemented provisions, some elders do take to consulting certified financial planners with knowledge of the related laws of the land who guide on the nuances of writing Wills at appropriate time, mainly to hold the legal heirs to their assets in check.

Most senior citizens come to grief after belatedly realising their neglect of their health, both physical and financial, as they approach old age. Observing WEAAD may serve as a reminder to this section of elders not to live in a state of stupor that their offsprings provide the same care that they received from their parents.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

What's more fascinating than being a post-graduate research scholar at a renowned research institute for a young lady in her early twenties? Those white lab coats, gloves, goggles, etc., just imagine a biotechnologist in her work attire, busy handling pipettes in a lab. Seems to be a dream-come-true moment for many, right? Sorry to interrupt your thoughts, but I beg to differ. I've spent a couple of years in a research institute and I'm on the verge of submitting my thesis. But the dream of a 'sweet, simple life' seems to be a distant fantasy. A postgraduate scholar starts with some coursework in the first year. Nobody knows why the courses exist. Still, we have to go with the flow. We also need to prepare a research topic, objectives, work plan etc., for the upcoming year. Then finally your research gets started after the approval of the expert committee. And later in the middle of research work, I realise that I have actually lost my real life somewhere. But I don't even want to go in search of it, because I'm in an institute where research is the most important thing — nothing else. — R. Hamsavalli in The New Indian Express.

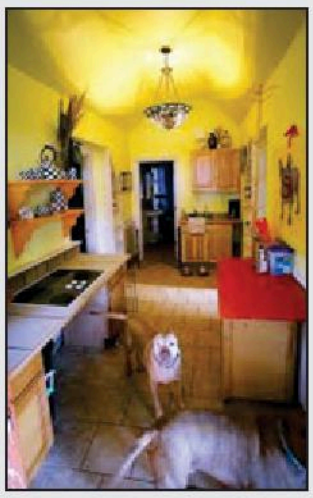
NEWS SPARKLERS

A village where theft doesn't exist

Eibenthal: An idyllic village nestled in the Banatului Mountains of Western Romania, Eibenthal is a charming place inhabited mainly by ethnic Czechs, but what really makes it stand out from other villages in the area, or pretty much anywhere else in the world, for that matter, is its reputation as a theft-free community.

There is no Police Station in Eibenthal, and frankly, there's no need for one either. Theft, is virtually non existent, and people are perfectly comfortable leaving money in bags on the streets for the bread delivery man. He drives by, takes the money and leaves the requested number of bread loaves and the change in the bags hanging on lamp posts or people's fences. In over 20 years, no one has ever reported any money of bread missing.

Rescued canines have their own cottages here



Eugene: The Luvable Dog Rescue is a canine shelter located in the idyllic woods of Oregon and featuring cozy, colorful cabins complete with miniature furniture, instead of the usual kennels, this place looks more like a fairy-tale village than a shelter for rescued pit bulls.

The 55-acre wooded sanctuary, near Eugene, in Oregon, currently consists of six beautifully-decorate cottages, each featuring two separate rooms and all the amenities you'd expect to find in a regular home, including furniture, lighting fixtures, artworks and even a TV. It hardly sounds like the perfect place for pit bulls to live in unsupervised, but there's actually a good reason that these cottages look so much like actual human homes.

How many bacteria are contained in my belly button?

In 2011, a belly button biodiversity study revealed that the navels of 60 volunteers contained 2,368 species of bacteria, 1,458 of which were previously uncatalogued. Because they are rarely scrubbed, navels contain a pristine microbiological terrain to observe.

VOICE OF THE READER

Stop vandalising Chamundi Hill

Sir,

How a government intent on executing a project of massive proportion in an ecologically sensitive Chamundi Hill, with magnificent Chamundeshwari temple situated on the top presenting a grand panoramic view of city and visited by an army of people year round, is now showing the signs of imminent danger of its deterioration to be reduced into a rubble hill in not distant a future as evidenced by the pictures (Star of Mysore dated June 19).

Whether it is in respect of steel bridge in Bengaluru or rectifying the sharp curve on Hunsur Road, the government had to backtrack due to justified protest by the public and this is the track record of the government and the ulterior motive for taking such projects is well-known. However, in respect of Chamundi Hill the government embarked on an ill-conceived massive project despite protest by the public comprising committed environmentalists, social activists, youths, intellectuals and senior citizens.

As always to counter the protest, the government, arming itself with a clearance obtained by an obliging committee of experts (?) to get a favourable report, appears to be hell bent on destroying the pristine environment of Chamundi Hill in the name of development. Unless immediate action is taken to reverse the situation, the irreversible damage will be done.

It is hoped that the new Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy will intervene to stop further construction activity and appoint a suitable authority to make its recommendation.

I-T files yet another complaint against D.K. Shivakumar

D.K. Shivakumar

Bengaluru, June 21 (UNI)- Income Tax Authorities have filed yet another complaint against Karnataka Minister for Medical Education and Water Resources D.K. Shivakumar.

Following the complaint, the Economic Offences Court Judge M.S. Alva has issued summons to Shivakumar and four others to appear before him on August 2 for questioning.

This is the fourth complaint filed by the IT Department against Shivakumar whose residence and office were raided during May 12 election to the Assembly. Sources said that the complaint was filed as there were alleged discrepancies in the annual returns filed by him. Others against whom summons were issued includes Sachin Narayan, Sunil Kumar Sharma, Anjaneya Hanumanthaiah and Rajendra.

The complaint said that Shivakumar, along with two businessmen and a present and a former employee of the Karnataka Government, had "engaged in transporting huge amount of unaccounted cash on regular basis through hawala channels."

"As per the facts and analysis of the evidences, it is clear that accused number 1 (Shivakumar) has set up an extensive network of persons and premises across Delhi and Bengaluru in order to transport and utilise unaccounted cash. It is pertinent to note here that an unaccounted cash amount of approximately Rs.8.5 crore has been found and seized [during raids] from four premises in Delhi which are directly relatable to accused number 1," the Department has alleged in the complaint.

The central agency accused the Minister of using services of Sunil Kumar Sharma, proprietor of Sharma Transport, Anjaneya Hanumanthaiah, Liaison Officer in Karnataka Bhavan, N. Rajendra, employee of Sharma Transport and Sachin Narayana, a business associate among others for transporting the cash.

According to the Department, the objective of purchasing these flats were two fold — one was to entertain the guests of Shivakumar and the other was to store unaccounted cash generated by him. Therefore, the cash generated by Shivakumar in Bengaluru and other places used to be transported by Sunil Kumar Sharma, stored in the flat and then distributed to various sources as directed by Shivakumar, according to their statement.

The entire conspiracy was hatched by Shivakumar, Sachin Narayan and Sharma at Bengaluru for the purposes of evading tax, stated the I-T Department.

Code words & hawala link

Sunil Kumar Sharma and one Pankaj used code word 'KG' for 'lakh', according to Rajendra. But Sharma stated that 'KG' does not mean rupees in 'lakh' and is only related to cargo deliveries. Ten rupee note was commonly used as a unique code between hawala operators and used in Sharma's WhatsApp chat.

I too have diaries, says unfazed Shivakumar

Bengaluru, June 21 (UNI)- Karnataka Minister for Water Resource and Medical Education D.K. Shivakumar yesterday declined to comment on allegations made against him that he had donated crores of rupees to the party seniors and had indulged in illegal Hawala business.

"I too have diaries and I will reveal the details in it at an appropriate time. I don't want to react to the acts made with political vengeance. If anybody is under the notion that they can blackmail me by misusing official machinery, they are wrong," Shivakumar added.

Shivakumar said the I-T officials were doing this under pressure. He said he feels sorry for the officials who were doing their job under pressure. "I think they would have looked at the larger angle and various Supreme Court judgments but still some of them love to see me harassed. I wish them luck," he said.

We are legally with Shivakumar, says CM: Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy told reporters that during such a situation, investigation officials should not yield to pressure while performing their duties. Asked if the government would back Shivakumar, he said, "If he is legally right, we are with him."

On the BJP's demand for his resignation, Kumaraswamy said, "Why should he resign? No such thing that warrants his resignation has happened. How many times have people from the BJP who faced raids resigned?"

Demanding resumption of ethnographic survey of Kodavas

CNC to stage dharna in front of DC office tomorrow

Madikeri, June 21- The Codava National Council (CNC) will stage a Satyagraha on June 22 in front of the Deputy Commissioner's Office in Madikeri demanding the re-commencement of ethnographic survey of Kodava tribe for its inclusion in the Schedule List of Constitution under Articles 340 and 342.

In a press release, CNC President N.U. Nachappa has stated that the Centre had asked Karnataka to conduct an ethnographic survey of Kodavas and accordingly, the Social Welfare Ministry had entrusted the job to Tribal Research Institute, Mysuru and released Rs. 11 lakh for the same.

Though the survey by a group of research scholars from the University of Mysore began systematically from Nov. 16, 2016 to December 2016, it was stopped midway by some vested interests who did not want the survey to be conducted, Nachappa added.

Counselling tomorrow

Mysuru, June 21- The counselling for eligible B.Ed/ B.PEd qualified Primary School teachers, who have been promoted as High School Associate Teacher-Grade 2 /High School Physical Education Teacher - Grade 1, will take place at the DDPI's office on D. Subbaiah Road, Mysuru, at 11 am tomorrow (June 22).

The list of eligible teachers, who are called for counselling, has been published in the respective BEO office.

The eligible teachers, who find mention in the list, are required to attend the counselling in time, according to a release.

Mandya CMC President dies in sleep

H.C. Boregowda

Mandya, June 21 (NG&DM)- Mandya CMC (City Municipal Council) President H.C. Boregowda (52) died in sleep due to a massive cardiac arrest at his residence here early this morning.

Boregowda, a resident of 4th Cross, Hosahalli Extension in Mandya, leaves behind his wife Pavithra, daughter Harshitha, son Jeevan and a host of relatives and friends.

Boregowda, who went to bed at about 10 pm last night, did not wake up even after 7am. His parents, who were in the house tried to wake him up, when he was found dead in sleep, it is learnt.

His family members had left for Hyderabad only yesterday morning on a tour.

Boregowda, whose tenure as Mandya CMC President was to end in a couple of months, was a three time Councillor, having got elected from Ward Nos. 16 and 17. He had also served as a PLD Bank Director earlier.

MyGreen 2018: Eco-friendly construction, life-style materials expo from June 22

Mysuru, June 21 (PM&NNN)- As part of its World Environment Month celebrations, Builders' Association of India (BAI), Mysore Centre, is organising its 5th edition of MyGreen 2018, in association with Mysore Builders' Charitable Trust (MBCT), on June 23 and 24 at its premises on Sterling Theatre Road, Vishweshwaranagar, said BAI Mysore Chairman K. Subramanya Rao.

He was addressing a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday and said that as part of the Environment Month celebrations, already seven programmes had been conducted.

The eco-friendly construction and life-style materials exhibition will be inaugurated by Vishwanath Srikantaiah, a Water Activist and Urban Planner, on June 22 at 6.30 pm at MBCT premises.

The two-day exhibition will be open to the public on June 23 and 24 from 10 am to 9 pm. It will have over 22 stalls from reputed companies who will be promoting green-related products, he said.

"The main objective of the exhibition is to create awareness among the citizens of Mysuru and motivate them to adapt to a more environment-friendly lifestyle. The Karnataka Renewable Energy Development Limited (KREDL) and NIE CREST will showcase various concepts of renewable energy," he said.

Organic Krishi Mela

An Organic Krishi Mela, 'Santhe' is also being organised with a display and sale of organic products. Apart from this, a visit to Kukkarahalli Lake to watch the birds, photography exhibition by the citizens, natural history documentary film shows of BBC, live display of organic manure manufacturing are also on the cards, said Subramanya Rao.

The other array of products include home-made toilet cleaning agents, waste management products and innovative technology for tackling wet waste at home by engineering students. The expo showcases manufactured sand, eco-friendly building construction technology, handicrafts, organic food millets, vegetables and greens, seeds and plant nurseries, he said.

A health check-up camp has been organised on both the days (June 23 and 24) for the general public at the premises. The entry to the exhibition is free, he added. MyGreen 2018 Chairman B.S. Dinesh, World Environment Month Chairman J.V.R. Naidhruva, BAI Hon. Secretary K. Ajith Narayan and MyGreen 2018 Hon. Secretary K.R. Prabhakar Rao were present at the press meet.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Marking your expiry date

Everything in nature has an expiry date. Even the sun. Talk to an astrophysicist and they will tell you when the sun will eventually die. Nothing lasts forever. We know that. Yet, culture is all about 'built to last'. The obsession with defying mortality, defying nature, being immortal is at the heart of human madness. It is what destroys society and ideology and relationships.

The richest man in the world, the most powerful technocrats of the world, are going to die, even if they are being treated by the best dieticians and gym trainers and doctors. Have they imagined a world after them? Do they imagine a world where they are not remembered at all? Do they accept that the world does not really need them? Are they okay with invalidation? Not if you follow American schools of management, where it is all about having a dream, a purpose, and leaving behind a legacy. For all our scientific temper, despite historical evidence that some of the greatest empires in the world have collapsed, that emperors have been forgotten, that scientists and their great inventions are no longer meaningful, management gurus still harp on the fiction of immortality and permanence. For they serve the mortal man's anxiety, rather than helping us transcend it.

Death, or expiry date, is at the heart of spirituality. Death makes us question the meaning of life, and hence makes us seekers. We turn to holy books and holy men, to gods and prophets, we value ambition and achievement and success. Death makes us anxious. Take away death, usher in immortality, and why would there be stress, for a world without death would be a world without change, without time, without memory or its loss.

It is obsession with death and therefore questions of immortality that shape the religions of the world. In Abrahamic religions, the solution offered is not to think, just follow the rules, and trust God, who is permanent. In Karmic religions, the monks speak of transcending death through introspection and meditation, or surviving through children and family name. The ancient Greeks and Romans genuinely believed that achievement ensures immortality. Bards sing your legacy forever. And this Greco-roman 'pagan' thought is at the heart of the American dream — the desire to be a hero who does the impossible despite odds and opposition. It's the classic rags-to-riches story in Hollywood.

In Hinduism, the concept of expiry date was acknowledged through the concept of ashrama-dharma. Everyone speaks of varna-dharma or India's ubiquitous caste system, but everyone seems to have forgotten the other half of this system: one that acknowledged that expiry date of your caste, as well as your life. After training (brahmacharya or student), every man was supposed to do his duties and enjoy caste privileges only till his grandson was born (grihastha or householder). Then he had to teach his grandchildren his skills (vanaprastha or retired) and when the grandchildren had children of their own, he had to renounce the world (sanyasa or hermit), free of caste duties and shorn of caste privileges, ready to accept death, having supported life. In modern corporate management, it means the talent pipeline — not just aspiring to be a CEO (phase 1), or being a CEO (phase 2), but preparing the next CEO (phase 3) and then living without the glamour of the CEO, knowing that every position is temporary, hence a seductive delusion, like life itself. But to let go of a powerful corporate role is tough. Once we have tasted fame and power it is difficult to let go. And it is to stay relevant even after retirement that government servants, even judges, it is whispered, become more corrupt as the end of term approaches.

Pay and then demand

By N.K.A. Ballal,
Retd. Sr. Vice-President, ITDC

An email from an Indian in the UK:

My salary in UK is 61,000 pounds per annum without tax. (61,000 x 80 = INR 48,80,000).

Ballal

I pay 40 percent tax on my salary. 48,80,000 - 19,52,000 = INR 29,28,000 balance.

Then 700 pounds per month as house rent, 140 pounds per month as council tax, about 100 pounds for gas and electricity per month. 500 pounds as water bill per annum. About 1,000 pounds per annum car insurance and 250 pounds road tax per annum (you can't drive a car in UK without insurance and road tax). Total comes to 18,570 x 80 = INR 15,85,000.

29,28,000 - 15,85,000= INR 13,44,000.

All these bills are non-negotiable and paid by all human beings living in UK. About 40 percent UK residents pay income tax.

Some bills like gas and electricity depend on usage but have to be paid.

Add to these all daily living expenses like food, petrol, mobile, WiFi, etc. And all these are much more expensive than in India.

That's why UK is developed, roads are good and clean, government schools are best, with 24 hours electricity and water. I am telling just basic things. Forget about advanced and complex things (like tax on property, capital gain tax on selling a property, etc).

Remember, UK is a net importer of food, clothes, things of daily life, petrol and petroleum products. Size of UK is about the size of the State of Uttar Pradesh and 1/3 of its population.

Coming to India: It is a huge country with rich resources. We don't import food and clothes.

Just 3.75 crore people out of 130 crore pay income tax. That is just 2.9 percent. And most of these are salaried employees who can't hide their income.

All 130 crore citizens want cheap electricity, water, good government schools, best roads and highways and super-fast trains.

Just sit and think for a minute. How many times have a local grocery shop, milk booth, sweets shop, garments shop, mobile and computer repair shop have given you any bill?

Look at all those businessmen around you who are earning more than an average salaried person.

A Road in the UK

A Main Road in Bogadi, Mysuru

And now think of businessmen sitting in areas like Karol Bagh, Chawari Bazaar, Sadar Bazaar and all other trading hubs of Delhi or Zaveri Bazaar, Hindmata market etc., of Mumbai or any other market of any other Indian city. You will never get a bill in these markets.

At least not an invoice. How many get a bill or invoice on buying or selling property?

But all of them want good roads, 24 hours electricity and water supply. They want good school and will abuse government for poor government school. They will blame the government for traffic jams, filthy roads. And when they go out they will abuse government for poor railways and airports.

Now, when our government has introduced a system (GST) to prevent tax evasion all these are the ones who are raising a hue and cry. These are the people who are sharing and liking everything on FB which is against the present government. I am not pro-present government but I am against this hypocrisy.

This is democracy. So all these tax evaders and opposition leaders and pseudo-intellectuals have their own right to oppose government. But then don't abuse the system or government when you don't get electricity or when your garbage is not picked or when you are stuck in traffic jam or when Indian Military doesn't get its much needed sophisticated arms.

Don't say Europe mein highways BEST hain. First pay here and then demand.

So true, we Indians just do not pay our taxes but demand the best of services. My daughter stays in a medium-sized city at US and shells out about 25 dollars a month as garbage and sewage tax. What do we pay for clearance of garbage? Even when a garbage cart is coming to collect, some people take pleasure in dumping garbage on the road and pavements. I stay in K.C. Layout, considered a posh Layout and know of several homes who have not installed water meter and enjoy the government supply of water without paying a single rupee for years and then have the gall to complain about the quality of water.

In Delhi, several years ago, an audit revealed that nearly 35 percent of electricity was being stolen. When investigated it was found that the power stolen by the poor, that is people staying in the slums, was just 10 percent. The majority of power theft was being done by the so-called elite of the town staying in posh houses with a/c and other amenities !

As regards Income Tax, the less said the better. One can understand the poor and marginal farmer not paying tax but why all rich agriculturists are exempted? The elite of the country become part-time agriculturists to siphon off their profits and not pay any taxes. The richest man in India Mukesh Ambani is not the highest tax payer. Why? Engaging several top-notch lawyers, these rich honchos create a maze of shell companies, trusts to ensure that they pay much lesser tax than they are supposed to, taking advantage of the tax laws which are so complicated and depends on the whims and interpretations of the pliant officers.

Demonetisation and GST have brought in many a shell companies out and has definitely increased the tax base but the volume of backlog is so high it may take years before all the pending cases are disposed of. Is it possible to eradicate corruption in such a large country like India? Of course not. But at least the "right to demand" is always there when we pay in full, whatever tax is due.

Yoga enthusiasts tuck into Tomatobath

55,000 half-litre water bottles consumed; steel glasses used; 150 makeshift toilets

Mysuru, June 21 (OSR)- The warm-up and the warm-down exercises and the 16 asanas performed in between, had the stomachs of 60,000 or more yoga enthusiasts growling, as they made a beeline to the food stall soon after participating in the Fourth International Yoga Day (IYD) celebrations in city, this morning.

The day had begun as early as 4 am for many at the Mysore Race Course. As soon as the event ended at 8.20 am, the enthusiasts rushed to the food counters where tomatobath in packets were kept ready to be served. Many also were seen leaving the grounds without going near the counter.

Everyone right from school children to elders were seen tucking into the tasty tomatobath. Nearly 60,000 food packets were kept ready and the volunteers were seen generously distributing even two or three packets to a few who wanted to fill their belly.

Along with food packets, nearly 55,000 half-litre water bottles were also distributed to the yoga practitioners along with food packets. Apart from this, water containers with steel glasses (eschewing plastic glasses) were kept at various places in the venue for the participants.

Just as there was silence all round except for the instructor's voice when yoga asanas were being performed, there was an orderly queue to collect the food packets with no one trying to put his/ her hands over the other.

Nearly 150 makeshift toilet facilities for both men and women were arranged.

Metal door detectors were installed at all the seven gates and anti-sabotage checking team personnel combed the area for any explosives both last evening and this morning just before the start of IYD. The Mounted Police were also seen keeping vigil at the entrance to the gates.

One way rule was imposed in a few of the roads leading to the venue. As the people came out of the venue after the completion of the programme, many roads like MG Road, Mysuru-Ooty Road, Lalitha Mahal Road and roads near the Mysuru Zoo witnessed traffic jam.

The traffic Police had a tough time controlling traffic. However, after some time, all the roads were cleared.

Enclosure for foreigners

There was a separate block for foreigners and many foreign students from different colleges as also yoga practitioners from several yoga patashalas in city.

A few of them said that they were participating in such a mega event for the first time. Even though they did not have any idea of yoga, they were seen trying to perform the asanas following the instructions of volunteers and instructors.

Mentally challenged children from Karunamayi Foundation in Kuvempunagar and even physically challenged children participated. The students from both government and private hostels came in large numbers.

However, the enthusiasm seen last year when Mysuru set the Guinness World Record was missing as the participants knew that their efforts would not be recognised.

I am very happy to participate in the International Yoga Day celebrations. I know that yoga is very useful to keep the body and mind alert. My teacher brought me here.

— Charan, 5th Standard, Tirumala School, Nadenahalli

I have come here with my sister's children. Yoga is good for health and I wanted the children to understand its importance.

— M.Rajanna, Backward Classes Department

I have brought 25 children from my school. The arrangements could have been better and more discipline could have been maintained. Also, children had to pay for bus tickets. I wish the District Administration had arranged bus facility for students coming from mofussil areas.

— Mangala Mary, Teacher, G.P. Palya

I am a regular practitioner of yoga. As I was keen on participating, I applied leave as otherwise I had to work in the morning shift.

— Shivaraju, Factory Employee, Nanjangud

I came from Bengaluru yesterday and checked into a hotel. I read the newspaper about Intl. Yoga Day. My curiosity was aroused. I did not know anything about yoga. I got up very early and entered the venue at 5.30 am and occupied the front row. Now, I have come to know how useful yoga is and I will practise it every day.

Six yoga achievers felicitated

Mysuru, June 21 (PM&DM)- As part of International Yoga Day, six yoga achievers were conferred 'Yoga Kalaratna Award at a programme. The event was jointly organised by Himalaya Kala Sahitya and Mysuru Yoga Samsthegala Okkoota at Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) premises here yesterday.

The Yoga achievers who were conferred the award are — V. Somasekhar, Ramesh, Sashikumar, N.R. Sandeep and K.R. Parvathamma, all of Mysuru and P.R. Vishwanath Shetty of K.R. Nagar.

Veteran Social activist K.S. Raghuram, speaking as the chief guest, said that Mysuru can be considered as an Yoga kingdom as the city has contributed a lot for yoga promotion.

Highlighting the role of Rishi Pathanjali in giving a new dimensions to yoga, he said that the erstwhile Mysuru ruler Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar promoted yoga education.

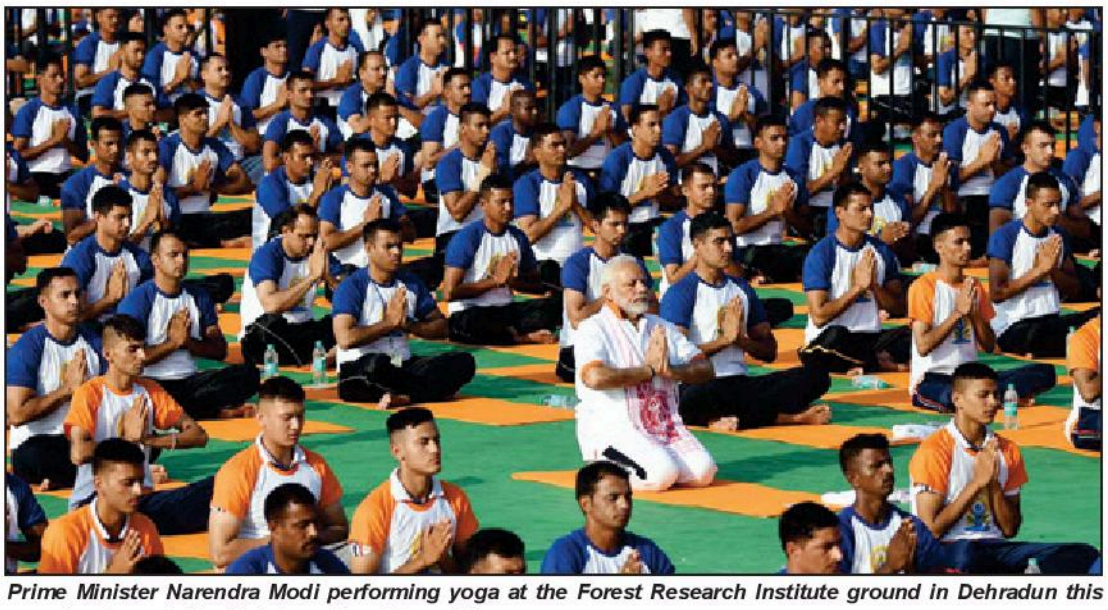
Recalling the contribution of Yoga Gurus Krishnamachar, B.K.S. Iyengar and Pattabhi Jois in carrying forward the yoga legacy for generations, Raghuram regretted that with the passage of time, Yoga is getting commercialised.

Himalaya Kala Sahitya Vedike Convenor Yogaprakash, in his address, said that there were over 350 yoga schools in city.

Highlighting the role of Yoga in maintaining mental and physical health, he said that the District Administration should identify yoga achievers and honour them every year.

Poetess Dr. A. Pushpa Iyengar, Mysuru Yoga Association's C. Ramesh, N.R. Mohalla Sri Sharadamba Temple Vice-President M.L. Kalyan Kumar and others were present.

Yoga has shown world path from illness to wellness: PM Modi



Prime Minister Narendra Modi performing yoga at the Forest Research Institute ground in Dehradun this morning to mark the 4th International Day of Yoga.

New Delhi, June 21 (UNI) Prime Minister Narendra Modi this morning led the celebrations for fourth International Day of Yoga across the country.

Addressing close to 50,000 people at the Forest Research Institute (FRI) in Dehradun, the PM said, "Yoga has become the biggest mass movement and it has shown the world the path from illness to wellness. Instead of increasing suffering, Yoga heals."

Wearing a white T-shirt and a pair of white trousers, the PM performed breathing exercises and asanas along with thousands of other yoga enthusiasts who performed the asanas on saffron yoga mats.

Noting that the world has embraced yoga, the PM said, "glimpses of this can be seen in the manner in which International Day of Yoga has been marked every year. From Dehradun to Dublin, Shanghai to Chicago, Jakarta to Johannesburg, yoga has become a positive influence in lives of millions?"

"Yoga is beautiful because it is ancient yet modern, it is constant yet evolving. It has the best of our past and presents and a ray of hope for our future. In yoga, we have the perfect solution to the problems we face, either as individuals or in our society. The way to lead a calm, creative and content life is yoga. It can show the way in defeating tensions and mindless anxiety. Instead of dividing, yoga unites. Instead of further animosity, yoga assimilates. Instead of increasing suffering, yoga heals," Modi said.

The PM is leading the celebration with Union Ministers Rajnath Singh, Nitin Gadkari, Suresh Prabhu, Uma Bharti, Ram Vilas Paswan, Ravi Shankar Prasad participating in yoga events in Lucknow, Nagpur, Chennai, Rudraprayag, Hajipur and Patna respectively. External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj, who is also on a tour to Europe, will lead the celebrations at the European Parliament in Brussels.

President Ram Nath Kovind, who is on the State visit of Suriname, will also participate in the Yoga Day celebration along with the President of Suriname and other dignitaries in Paramaribo, Suriname today.

UN celebrates IDY for the first time

United Nations, June 21 (UNI)- Over 100 people, including diplomats and UN staff, performed yoga at UN headquarters to celebrate first-ever International Day of Yoga (IDY).

The celebrities included UN Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon and his wife Yoo (Ban) Soon-taek, who participated in the event guided by Sri Ravi Shankar Guruji from India, a report in Chinese news agency said.

Addressing the event, Ban said, "I am hoping that if yoga promotes physical dexterity, it can also promote diplomatic dexterity." "My hope is that yoga will give people everywhere the sense and the oneness we need to work together to live in harmony and usher in a life of dignity for all," he added. On December 11, 2014, the UN General Assembly proclaimed in its resolution June 21 as IDY.

60,000 perform Yoga at MRC

While DC Abhiram G. Sankar estimated the crowd to be around 55,000, Tourism Dy. Director H. Janardhan estimated the numbers to be more than 60,000. Over 70,000 people had registered for the event.

Yoga performers started gathering at the venue as early as 4.30 am and the whole area was floodlit and there was a glow and a halo around the 139.30 acres sprawling Race Course.

As the dawn approached, the sun rays started filtering through the many trees and spreading its light all round the venue. The cool breeze blowing added to the ethereal atmosphere of the day. Fortunately it did not rain and it started pouring at around 11.15 am, hours after the yoga performers left the venue.

People started arriving in full yoga gear carrying yoga mats, jamkhana and towels and over 500 people had gathered inside the venue as early as 4.30 am. As the clock ticked, people started arriving in large groups and by 7 am, the green and spacious campus was teeming with people.

Warming up for the grand performance began at 6.10 am and the VIPs including Tourism Minister S.R. Mahesh, MLAs L. Nagendra and S.A. Ramdas, MP Pratap Simha, Yaduveer Wadiyar and former DC D. Randeep arrived at 6.45 am. City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao and Mysuru SP Amit Singh were conspicuous by their absence. Even Minister S.R. Mahesh, in his speech, pointed out their absence.

Dhyana began at 7.15 am after a small stage programme. After Dhyana, asanas including Paadasana, Vrukshasana, Paadahasthaasana, Ardha Chakrasana, Trikonasana, Samadandasana, Bhadrasana, Vajrasana, Ardha Ushtrasana, Shashankaasana, Uthana Mandukaasana, Vakrasana, Makarasana, Sarala Bhujangasana, Shalabhasana, Ardha Haalasana, Pavanamuktasana and Shavasana. The yoga session ended at around 8.20 am.

After the asanas, the participants were asked to perform certain exercises like Kapalabathi, Naadishodha Pranayama and Shithali Pranayama, to come out of the yoga mode. Along with the main stage that was occupied by the VIPs and officers, 84 yoga blocks were set up. There were volunteers at every block who guided the people. Arrangements of loudspeakers were made and instructors were seen guiding the performers on the asanas.

The gates of MRC (seven in number) were opened at 5 am for the participants to assemble and prepare for the demonstration. As the District Administration had conveyed the word through the Education Department regarding school children participating in yoga, over 300 schools from the city and students from many Taluk schools participated in the mega event. Breakfast was served to all the participants.

Will convince Modi to come to Mysuru for 2019 Yoga Day: MP

Mysuru, June 21 (MTY&BCT)- When the ground work for today's International Yoga Day celebrations began, every Mysurean expected Prime Minister Narendra Modi to be a part of the celebrations in this Heritage City.

While short-listing the names for the venues of the main yoga event, the Union Government had chosen Mysuru and it was later shifted to Dehradun where Modi took part. Reacting on this development, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha assured that next year, he will convince Modi to come to Mysuru for the Yoga Day.

"Following Modi's suggestion, the United Nations listed June 21 as the International Day of Yoga and that was accepted unanimously by all countries. Such is Modi's power and popularity. Next year, I will somehow convince him to come to Mysuru and join all of us to perform Yoga," he said.

Elderly man commits suicide, leaves Rs. 40k cheque for last rites

Ramakrishna

Mysuru, June 21 (RK&BCT)- A retired government employee from city, who was suffering from illness, committed suicide by hanging at Srirangapatna on Tuesday night and the incident came to light yesterday morning. He has left a cheque for Rs. 40,000 for his kin to perform his last rites and also left a suicide note asking his family members not to get depressed over his death.

Sixty-nine-year-old Ramakrishna, a resident of Ramakrishnanagar in Mysuru checked into Sri Venkateshwara Lodge at Srirangapatna on Tuesday evening. He had retired from Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation and was suffering from some illness. Incidentally, the lodge is located near Srirangapatna Police Station.

Ramakrishna had told the lodge staff that he was a resident of Ramakrishnanagar in Mysuru and would stay at the lodge for a day or two. He had dinner at a hotel on Tuesday night and when the lodge room boy knocked the doors of his room yesterday morning, Ramakrishna did not respond.

The room boy alerted the lodge manager who informed Srirangapatna Police. Circle Inspector Niranjan and Sub-Inspector C.M. Ravindra visited the lodge and the doors were opened forcibly. Police found Ramakrishna's body hanging from the ceiling fan. He had hung himself using a bed sheet.

Police also found a cheque for Rs. 40,000 and a suicide note. Police told Star of Mysore that Ramakrishna had left the cheque for the relatives to perform his last rites and other rituals. He wanted the rituals to be performed at Srirangapatna and had mentioned that well-known astrologer Bhanu Prakash Sharma must perform the rituals.

Police said Ramakrishna had mentioned in the suicide note that he was ill and depressed. He has stated that he does not want to become a burden to the family and he was deeply disturbed as many treatments failed to heal the illness. He also wrote that he had educated his children and they are in good positions now.

Ramakrishna has asked the children not to worry and go into depression following his death. He has told them not to spend any money for his last rites and instead use the Rs. 40,000 he has left behind for cremation and other rituals.

According to the Police, Ramakrishna's children shared a cordial relationship with their father. Family members told the Police that Ramakrishna was under depression since a few days due to ill health and this drove him to take extreme step.

Family members were summoned to Srirangapatna Police Station yesterday and Ramakrishna's body was handed over to them after post-mortem.

Supporters of ex-Cong. MLA oppose guddali puja by JD(S) MLA

Followers of former MLA K. Venkatesh seen in argument with PWD Assistant Executive Engineer S. Prakash in Belathur village, Periyapatna, this morning. Picture right shows JD(S) MLA K. Mahadev performing guddali puja at Belathur as AEE S. Prakash and others look on.

Periyapatna, June 21 (Ramesh)- Even as a Congress-JD(S) coalition government is ruling Karnataka, the followers of former Congress MLA K. Venkatesh staged a demonstration against the move of the newly-elected JD(S) MLA K. Mahadev to lay the foundation stone for Rs.4.75 crore road works in Belathur village here.

The agitators gheraoed the car of PWD Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) S. Prakash and took him to task for allowing MLA Mahadev to once again perform guddali puja (foundation stone) for which the previous MLA had done in the past.

They charged that their leader Venkatesh had already got the money sanctioned for the road works and it was wrong on the part of AEE to once again ask the new MLA to do the puja again. They demanded to know who gave him permission to do it and attacked him and his car. Meanwhile, the Police who were present prevented the situation from turning ugly and Prakash was immediately escorted into the waiting car of the MLA. However, Mahadev managed to perform the guddali puja to launch nearly Rs. 25 crore works in the taluk including drainage and foundation stone for Samudaya Bhavan.

World Giraffe Day at City Zoo

Mysuru, June 21 (MTY&KS)- Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens, popularly called as Mysuru Zoo, celebrated the longest-necked animal day (World Giraffe Day) on the longest day of the year today.

The Day is meant to raise support, create awareness and provide a deeper understanding of the challenges that these animals face in the wild.

As part of the celebrations, the Zoo authorities have displayed an attractive Information Board and Fun Facts Board in front of the Giraffe enclosure for the visitors to understand more about this animal.

Information such as the food of Giraffe, its lifespan, height, habitat, gestation period, daily lifestyle, quantity of food it consumes per day etc., have been put up for the visitors.

Zoo Education Officer S. Sindhuja was seen explaining about the animal to the visitors and also answered their questions. Giraffe Keeper Issac too was seen explaining to the tourists.

Mysuru Zoo houses seven Giraffes including the female calf of Kushi, which was born on May 26 this year and named as Trishika. A female Giraffe was gifted by Mysuru Zoo to Bannerghatta Biological Park.

According to Giraffe Conservation Foundation (GCF), there are only around one lakh giraffes left in the wild, meaning they are approaching high-risk status. In the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species, giraffes have recently had their listed status changed to 'Vulnerable to extinction' —their numbers in Africa have dropped hugely by around 40 percent in just the last three decades alone. Specifically, the Masai Giraffe has lost half of its numbers in the last 30 years and now only around 32,000 are remaining in Tanzania and Southern Kenya which is attributed to the increase of human settlements and the loss of habitat that goes along with it.

Zoo Authority of Karnataka Member-Secretary B.P. Ravi, In-charge Mysuru Zoo Executive Director and DCF (Wildlife) Siddaramappa Chalkapure and Zoo staff were present.

Costa grabs lucky goal as Spain beat Iran 1-0

Kazan, Jume 21- A scrappy second half goal by Diego Costa broke a Persian stonewall and lifted Spain to a 1-0 win over a courageous Iran in a nerve-jangling World Cup clash on Wednesday.

Costa claimed his third goal of the tournament in the 54th minute at Kazan Arena but the striker hardly knew about it, the ball deflecting off his legs from an attempted clearance by hapless Iran defender Ramin Rezaeian.

The result left Spain joint top of their group with Portugal on four points, with Iran close behind on three going into the third and final set of games. After two defeats, Morocco are out.

Uruguay beat Saudi Arabia

Uruguay booked their place in the World Cup knockout stage along with Russia on Wednesday, as Luis Suarez scored the winner on his 100th international appearance in a 1-0 victory over Saudi Arabia in Rostov-on-Don.

Diego Costa and Isco celebrate Spain's-winning-goal.

The South Americans take on the hosts in their final Group A match on June 25 with top spot on the line, while Egypt and Saudi Arabia have been eliminated after both suffered back-to-back defeats.

The 31-year-old Suarez, whose previous two World Cups both ended in bans after his infamous 2010 handball against Ghana and bite on Italy's Giorgio Chiellini four years later, took advantage of a goalkeeping error by Mohammed Al-Owais to put Uruguay ahead midway through the first half.

Cristiano Ronaldo's game-winning goal eliminates Morocco from World Cup.

Portugal beat Morocco

Cristiano Ronaldo powered-home a 4th-minute header to give Portugal a 1-0 victory over Morocco that took them top of Group B on Wednesday and meant the unlucky North African side become the first to be eliminated from the tourney. Ronaldo's fourth goal of Russia 2018, following his hat-trick in the 3-3 draw with Spain, took the European champions to 4 points.

Cows killed by tiger in South Kodagu

Gonikoppal, June 21 (KS) - A tiger, which entered the cowshed of Ajjamada Viju Cariappa in Birugа village coming under Srimangala Gram Panchayat limits, has killed two cows besides dragging away one of the cows and eating it in the wee hours of yesterday.

While the carcass of one cow was found inside the cowshed, the half eaten carcass of another cow was found in the bushes near the field.

When Cariappa went to the cowshed in the morning, he found the carcass of a cow near the door with other cows wailing. He then counted the cows and found one of them missing. When he launched a search for the missing cow, he found the half eaten carcass of the cow in the bush near the field.

Cariappa, who was working in Bengaluru, had resigned his job and had started Dairy Farming in his village. He had over 30 cows and was selling hundreds of litres of milk.

It is suspected that the tiger may have come from Brahmagiri Reserve Forest. Forest Department staff, who arrived at the spot, inspected the place and assured of capturing the tiger by placing a cage. By afternoon, the Forest staff arrived with a cage and placed the same at the spot to trap the elusive tiger.

Meanwhile, JD(S) District President Sanketh Poovaiah, who arrived at the spot, spoke with Cariappa and expressed regrets over the functioning of the Forest Department. He alleged that Kodago CCF Lingaraju, was not taking any steps despite a large number of cattle being killed by tiger attacks in South Kodagu. He demanded the CCF to come to the spot and instruct his junior officers to capture the tiger using the latest technologies and warned of complaining to the Minister if the Department fails to take action.

It may be recalled that about four days back, a tiger had killed cattle of Kuppanda Sanju in Kurchi village. Though the Forest Department had tried to capture the tiger which had killed cattle at Kottageri, Dhanugala, Mayamudi, Kurchi and Besagoru in South Kodagu, they were unable to trap the tiger. Now, the Forest Department staff is trying their luck to capture the tiger in Biriga village as there are more number of people rearing cows in the village.

Madikeri Wildlife Division ACF Dayananda, Srimangala ACF Srinivasa Nayaka, staff Sanju and villagers were present.

Bear sighted near Garaganahalli

Traffic disrupted on highway for sometime

Gundlupet, June 21 (SOMG& KS)- Traffic on the busy Bengaluru-Nilgiris National Highway was disrupted for sometime following the sighting of a bear near Garaganahalli yesterday.

The bear was sighted by one Mahadevappa of the village in his farm yesterday afternoon, which tried to attack him. Mahadevappa then screamed for help, which attracted the villagers, who rushed to the spot and chased the bear, which took shelter among the bushes nearby.

The Forest Department personnel, who rushed to the spot, tried to capture the bear with the help of nets and leave it back into the forest. But the bear, which had become aggressive by then, tried to attack the Forest staff, who managed to escape and the bear had climbed a tree for its safety. The Forest staff tranquillised the bear and took it back to the forest to set it free after it regained conscious.

ACF Ravikumar, RFO Naveen, Begur ASI of Police Gurusiddaiah and other officials visited the spot.

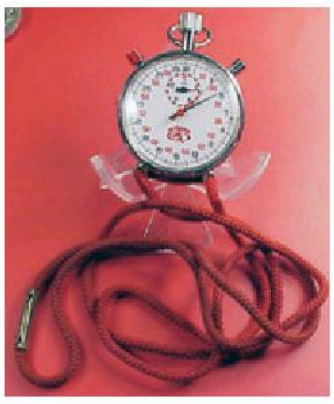
WORD OF THE DAY

Chronograph

Pronunciation: ˈkrɒnəgrɑːf



Meaning: An instrument for recording time with great accuracy. A stopwatch.
Origin: The term chronograph comes from the Greek χρονογράφος (khronográphos 'time recording'), from χρόνος (khrónos 'time') and γράφω (gráphō 'to write'). Early versions of the chronograph are the only ones that actually used any "writing": marking the dial with a small pen attached to the index so that the length of the pen mark would indicate how much time had elapsed. The first modern chronograph was invented by Louis Moinet in 1816, solely for working with astronomical equipment. It was Nicolas Mathieu Rieussec who developed the first marketed chronograph at the behest of King Louis XVIII in 1821. The King greatly enjoyed watching horse races, but wanted to know exactly how long each race lasted, so Rieussec was commissioned to invent a contraption that would do the job: as a result he developed the first ever commercialized chronograph. Rieussec was considered the inventor of the chronograph until the Louis Moinet pocket chronograph discovery in 2013 when history was rewritten.

THE ODD WORD

Futz

To waste time or busy oneself aimlessly.

IDIOM OF THE DAY

Even a broken clock is right twice a day

Meaning: It means that even the most irredeemably stupid, wrong-headed person can occasionally get things right. No one is ever completely wrong. Even a broken clock is right twice a day as it gives a more immediate imagery: a clock stopped at 9 o'clock is right at 9 in the morning and 9 in the evening.

Origin: It's been applied to people, news media sources, government officials, and everything in between. Similar idiomatic expressions which involve animals appear to have a Latin origin: If you're having a tough time finding something, remember that even a blind pig can find an acorn once in a while. This encouraging idiom actually comes from ancient Rome, where the concept of a blind animal turning something up lent itself to the Latin saying that a blind dove sometimes finds a pea. An 18th-century Friedrich Schiller play employed the blind-pig-and-acorn version, and the play's translation into English and French may have brought it into modern English speech.

QUOTE BOX

Clocks slay time. Time is dead as long as it is being clicked off by little wheels; only when the clock stops does time come to life.— William Faulkner
